The Royal College of Anaesthetists (RCoA) and Association of Paediatric Anaesthetists (APA) recommend that an anaesthetist must safeguard and protect the health and wellbeing of vulnerable people (including children, young people, the elderly and those with learning difficulties)\(^1\).

The 2010 Intercollegiate (IC) guidance\(^2\) recommends that there should be a minimum of one anaesthetist with core level 3 safeguarding competencies in all centres where children are managed— the “Lead anaesthetist for Child Protection/Safeguarding”\(^3\).

The joint RCoA/APA 1 day training programme has been reviewed by relevant bodies/senior clinicians with authorship/ownership of the IC guidance. Content and delivery has been approved as providing a substantial contribution to the relevant competencies for Child Protection/Safeguarding anaesthetists\(^2\).
